PREFACE.

In presenting to the public the first Directory of the Town of Guelph, the publisher feels justified in saying that he believes it will be found to be in every respect as correct and reliable as it is possible for any Directory to be. The fact of its being the first attempt of the kind in the town rendered the task a much more difficult one than it would have been were there a previous publication to refer to for data; but he has the satisfaction of claiming for it entire originality and whatever honor is therein due to the enterprise. The materials have been carefully gathered from the most reliable sources and the greatest pains taken to secure the accuracy of the information.

The historical portion, while claiming no special merit as a literary composition, is believed to embody a truthful account of the birth, growth and present status of the town, and will doubtless prove of interest to the present as well as future generations.

Of the alphabetical portion, I may state that more than ordinary means have been adopted to guard against errors in either orthography, description or locality. Every house and place of business within the corporation was visited by competent agents, and the work of procuring the necessary information, it is believed, has been accomplished in a thorough and efficient manner. In compiling the slips and placing the names in alphabetical order, I examined each one critically, and where any doubts existed no pains were spared to have any errors or omissions corrected. Knowing, however, the constant round of change which is taking place by removals, etc., I humbly ask for reasonable allowance to be made for such contingencies.

To a number of "old settlers" and others, I offer my thanks for their kindness in furnishing items of information and assistance in procuring many details; and to businessmen for their advertising patronage.

TOVN OF GUELPH.

Guelph is the County Town of the County of Wellington, Province of Ontario. Situated in one of the most fertile portions of the Dominion, about midway between the great lakes, its climate is at once moderate and healthy. The Grand Trunk railway runs through the centre of the town, and the Wellington, Grey & Bruce extension of the Great Western railway runs about half a mile west of the centre. Guelph is 48 miles west of Toronto, and 30 miles north of Hamilton. It is surrounded by a magnificent agricultural and stock-raising country, being celebrated far and near for the superiority of its products. In its manufactures, the town has a celebrity scarcely equalled by any in the Dominion, and as a commercial town it has perhaps no superior outside of the cities. It has every advantage for the shipment of its products to any part of the world. There is also quite a large wholesale business done here, especially in groceries, liquors, hardware and crockery—the dealers along the line of the Wellington, Grey & Bruce railway and other northern points finding it to their advantage to procure their supplies here. The lime-stone quarries of Guelph give her ample building material of the best quality. Large quantities of lime and building stone are annually exported, and are of considerable commercial importance.

The town is situated among several hills, with two branches of the river Speed, which give it a somewhat picturesque aspect when viewed from a distance. The public buildings and churches compare with any in towns of far larger size, both for taste displayed in their erection, and for capacity. The business is all on the west side of the river
Speed, the East being ranged with beautiful private residences, rising from the river bank, upon a series of hills 800 feet above Lake Erie. The Town limits are three miles square; thus affording ample room for expansion.

The original plan laid down by the projector of the town has not been adhered to in the more recent additions. Tradition has it that this individual laid his hand upon the stump of the first tree cut down, and made all his streets diverge from that point, in resemblance of the five fingers. As viewed from the Grand Trunk passenger station this tradition holds good, for here we have, first, the streets each side of the Market Square, then Macdonnell street, Quebec street and Woolwich street, all centering there. Although the town is somewhat irregularly laid out, her streets are wide, clean, and picturesque.

EARLY HISTORY.

Guelph can boast of an honorable descent. Her title deeds are clearly made out, for there is extant a description, from the pen of the talented founder himself, John Galt, of the first blow struck at the first monster maple upon the site of the present thriving town. The land, as most local readers are aware, belonged to the Canada Company; and, of a block of 40,000 acres submitted to inspection, the present site was unanimously agreed upon.

On the 23rd of April, 1826, Mr. John Galt, Dr. Dunlop and Mr. Prior, Agents of the Canada Company, awoke the echoes of the wilderness by a sturdy stroke, whose effects yet reverberate and will until the grand visions of its founder are amply fulfilled. The gifted author of our good town and of the very interesting sketches to which we are indebted, recounts how he chose St. George's day for the operation referred to, in order to give additional solemnity thereto.

"The founding of a town," says he, "like the launching of a vessel, was an era of which the horoscope might be cast. I accordingly appointed a national holiday for the ceremony; which secretly I was determined should be held in remembrance."
The historic spot where the first tree was felled is to be found near the present Grand Trunk Passenger Station. The embryonic "city" was there and then christened Guelph with due solemnity.

"The tree," writes Mr. Galt, "fell with a crash of accumulating thunder, as if ancient nature were alarmed at the entrance of social man into her innocent solitudes with his sorrows, his follies and his crimes. I do not suppose that the sublimity of the occasion was unfelt by the others, for I noticed that after the tree fell, there was a funereal pause as when the coffin is lowered into the grave; it was, however, of short duration for Dr. Dunlop pulled a flask of whiskey from his bosom and we drank prosperity to the city of Guelph. The name was chosen in compliment to the Royal Family, both because I thought it auspicious in itself and because I could not recollect that it had even been before used in all the king's dominions. After the solemnity, we returned to the shanty which had been erected for our shelter. It may appear ludicrous to many readers that I look upon this incident with gravity, but in truth I am very serious; for although Guelph is not so situated as ever to become celebrated for foreign commerce, the location possesses many advantages, independent of being situated on a tongue of land, surrounded by a clear and rapid stream. In planning the city I had an eye to futurity in the magnitude of the parts. A beautiful central hill was reserved for the Catholics in compliment to my friend Bishop Macdonell, for his advice in the formation of the Canada Company; the centre of a rising ground, destined to be hereafter a square, was appropriated to the Episcopal Church for Archdeacon Strachan; and another rising ground was reserved for the Presbyterians. In planting the town, I stipulated that half the price of the building sites should be appropriated to endow a school. The school-house was thus among the first buildings undertaken to draw settlers. Before the foundations of the town were laid, land was valued by the magistrates in quarter sessions, at one shilling and three pence per acre, and the settled townships around at seven shillings and sixpence."
The enterprise manifested in our good town was, at a very early date, the admiration of visitors, who even journeyed hither from Edinburgh to indulge their curiosity. "The glory of Guelph was unparalleled, but, like all earthly glories, was destined to pass away. It consisted of a glade opened through the forest, about seven miles in length and 130 feet wide, forming an avenue, with trees on each side."

Considerable difficulty was experienced in settling upon a name for the place, and it was the cause of a protracted struggle between Mr. Galt and the Canada Company. Long after the celebration of the baptismal rites, the contest was maintained, with the object of changing its name to Goderich. Fate being propitious, Mr. Galt gained and held his point.

For several years there was no baker in Guelph, the residents being thrown upon the charity of a woman who "did for them" once in a while. There was a grist mill belonging to the Canada Company but it was imperfect, so that people had, for over nine years, to get their flour from Waterloo. An enterprising English baker (Mr. S. Wright,) at length purchased the Canada Company's office and turned it into a bakery. His first attempt was, however, only a partial success. The oven was built of limestone, on a foundation of cedar wood, and was in the open air. It belonged to the Canada Company. Being unused to woodfires, our baker solicited counsel; unfortunately listening to the witching voice of the female baker, who directed him to make the oven white-hot. In consequence, the oven crumbled to powder before his eyes, whilst a greedy multitude helped themselves to the loaves. It is recorded, also, how a person paid $36 for the carriage of 18 barrels of flour from Mr. Ewart's of Dundas, to Guelph.

The founders of our town were ambitious. Having provided for the erection of a school, whilst scarcely a tree was cut, they erected a Market-house and a Bank. The former was a frame building, and was more designed to furnish occupation to the carpenters who might migrate hither, than from any immediate need of such a building. The bank was of stone. The old school-house, for a long while did duty as a church, being common to pastors of all persuasions. Yet, spite of her imposing public edifices, Guelph, for a tedious duration of time, was little better than a bush settlement.

The noble iron structure that to-day spans the river Speed, and known as the Eramosa bridge, was supplied by a cumbersome affair known as the "Break-neck bridge." Some of the early log houses, yet stand, to testify to the substantial character of our old pioneers' architecture. Of these, Mr. David Allan's and Dr. Herod's houses are examples, being built of squared timbers, and nowise discreditable to our modernized ideas of taste and comfort. It is not long since Market Square was a sandy desert; Wyndham street an eyesore, and a stumbling-block. Then, wolves sung choruses to the sighing of the sear maple-leaf in the autumn air. The forest was full of game, which Indians constantly brought in to market. "A change came o'er the spirit of my dream;" the woodman's axe is hushed; the armies of blazing stumps, startling the twilight wanderer, have ceased to glow; the hum of factory and workshop stifles the subdued sobs of nature regretful of her departed glories.

During the years of the Rebellion of 1837-8, Guelph, in common with the entire Province, suffered from trade depression. The equanimity of the town authorities was disturbed by the rumored presence of a rebel body in Eramosa, who were believed to entertain the sinister design of sacking the infant town. A period of scarcity, little short of famine, in the adjoining townships, materially affected the development of our town, which, for some years, was subject to extreme fluctuations.

The period inaugurating what may be termed the "New Era" is marked by the successful establishment of a newspaper, in 1845. Previous to that date there were two separate efforts to publish a paper, but each failed after a trial of a few weeks. The Advertiser was then commenced, under the management of Mr. John Smith, (now publisher of the Elora Observer,) and successfully conducted by him until 1857, when it was purchased by Mr. P. Clerihew. In 1858 it again changed hands and for the succeeding twelve years was published by Mr. J. Wilkinson. The Herald was established in 1847 by the late Mr. Geo. Pirie, and successfully conducted by him until his death, a few years since. The Mercury was commenced in 1854 by the late Mr. G. M. Keeling, and was also conducted by him till his death.

1850 saw the opening of a Mechanics’ Institute, which, although small, proved the increasing growth of a taste for literary culture. In 1854-5, the Toronto and Guelph line of railway, the first link of the Grand Trunk, was built, giving a marked impetus to material prosperity in Guelph. The Galt and Guelph branch followed, enhancing the beneficial impulse. This first enterprise had the effect of diverting the growth of the town westwards, the portion east of the line, formerly the business centre, remaining almost stationary. The period of the Russian war was marked by reckless land-jobbery, the re-action of which for some time impeded the growth of our town. Lands at this time acquired a fictitious value, and town lots were sold at very high prices. In 1855, the Catholic Convent was established upon the historical hill set apart for the Catholic community by John Galt.

Guelph was incorporated as a town in 1856.

MODERN HISTORY.

Guelph of to-day is rapidly rising and, as is the case with young cities, tending westward. The steady growth of the town will be at once apparent from a glance at the census returns of the past few years:

In April 1873 the assessors reported a population of 7,798 and a total assessment of $2,100,560.

The exports in 1870 were $412,563, imports $222,930; in 1871 the exports were $276,689, and imports $359,276.*

The apparent depreciation of the export total in 1871, compared with that of the preceding year demands an

The extension of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce line of railway to Fergus in that year had the effect of causing a portion of the produce to be shipped at northern stations. The increase in the imports is satisfactory proof, however, that 1871 shewed no marks of stagnation as regards the wholesale and retail trades of our town.

The town derives a certain importance from the fact of its being a port of entry; Mr. J. W. Jessop officiating as United States Consular agent. Mr. Edward Carthew is Customs officer.

Guelph is the centre of a rich farming district, whilst stock-raising is largely and profitably carried on. Foremost in this department is Mr. F. W. Stone, who went to much trouble and expense in the importation from England of thoroughbred stock. This gentleman has lately sold a large portion of his farm property to the Ontario Government, on which will shortly be established an Agricultural College. The stock raised here has a universal reputation, cattle being shipped from Guelph to all parts of the country.

The Town Hall is in an excellent position on the Market Square, not far from the Grand Trunk Railway Station, and is a substantial building, although the growing necessities of the town will shortly demand a larger edifice.

The Court House and Jail are imposing structures, whilst the new Episcopal Church is one of the finest specimens of ecclesiastical architecture in the Province. Twelve churches beautify the town—1 Episcopal, 1 Roman Catholic, 4 Presbyterian, 3 Methodist, 1 Congregational, 1 Baptist and 1 Evangelical.

The town is well supplied with gas, and has an abundance of springs, although yet devoid of public water-works.

It has a High School, as well as a Central and four Ward Schools, employing 15 teachers at a joint salary of $8000 per annum. There are also several private schools, together with the excellent ladies’ seminary in connection with the Catholic Church, known as “Loretto Convent” and St. Joseph’s Hospital, a really good institution. Nor is the town deficient in literary enterprise: there are three papers, the Advertiser and Mercury, Reform, and the Herald, Conservative. At one time, all three were published both Daily and Weekly, but the Advertiser not long ago, withdrew its daily issue, and is reaping the fruits of its foresight.

The Bank of Montreal, Bank of Commerce, and Bank of Ontario have large transactions here.

The Grand Trunk Railway Bridge is a splendid structure, made of iron, and based upon massive, elegant and very high stone piers.

There are several water privileges, and seven flouring mills, of which three are very large, owned by Messrs. J. Goldie, D. Allan, and Jno. Pipe. Mr. Allan owns also an immense distillery, in connection with which he pays annually $130,000 Excise duty. Admirable as are these enterprises, there are certain branches of manufacture in which Guelph stands specially pre-eminent. Amongst these must be classed the two cabinet organ and melodeon factories of Messrs. W. Bell & Co., and Messrs. J. Jackson & Co., which have a world-wide celebrity. In the sewing machine business, Guelph is unrivalled, having two extensive factories. The one is owned by Mr. Chas. Raymond; the other by the Guelph Sewing Machine Co. Mr. Jos. Rainer manufactures pianos to a considerable extent. Messrs. Arms & Worswick own a large tool, machine and iron works, whilst there are many factories and foundries besides, affording employment to numbers of men.

The River Speed, by which Guelph is partly engirdled, is a most picturesque and winding stream, whose banks, redolent of scenes of quiet pastoral beauty, afford ample material for the tourists' sketch-book. At the Dundas bridge it forms a junction with the Eramosa branch, itself a pretty stream. At certain points of the Speed is to be had excellent trout-fishing. Both streams are much frequented by oarsmen, whose boat-houses form a compact mass on the commons near the Dundas bridge.

The Eramosa branch is specially admired by pleasure-seekers. Some distance up is an island, known as "Rice Island," and, higher yet, a spot that from its beauty has been christened "Paradise." The approach to this spot is very fine, especially within half-a-mile of Victoria Bridge, where the long straight watery avenue, thickly clad with shrubs, and the bridge seen in the distance has a really artistic effect. Another place of resort is "The Rocks," where good duck-shooting is to be had. Here commence a series of shallows, beyond which boating is impracticable. In winter time, the bay near Dundas bridge affords excellent skating.

We must not close this brief outline of Guelph without mentioning the Exhibition Grounds and Building, possibly destined to form the centre of the future "city" of Guelph. The grounds are ample and extensive; the building well-fitted and ventilated; speaking volumes for the energy and liberality of the ratepayers, as well as for the taste of the architect. The scheme is the joint production of the Town and the South Wellington Agricultural Society.

With a past history so steadily progressive; nursed within a natural garden, that repays the labor bestowed upon its virgin soil, abundantly; railways bringing traffic to her marts; manufactories developing in her midst, Guelph has a glorious future.

TOWN WARDS.

The town is divided into four wards, viz., North Ward, South Ward, East Ward and West Ward, each of which is represented at the Council Board by three Councillors. The line dividing North and East Wards from the West and South Wards commences at the north-west boundary of the corporation, and runs as follows: Along the centre of Woolwich street to its intersection with Wyndham; thence along Wyndham to Macdonnell; thence along West Macdonnell to Norfolk; thence along Norfolk and Gordon to the south-east boundary. North and East Wards are divided by Macdonnell, Woolwich, Thorp and Grange streets. West and South Wards are divided by Cork, Dublin, Durham, Yorkshire, Berlin, Edinburgh, Crimea and the G.W. railway.
