SAULT STE. MARIE, ONT.

MISCELLANEOUS DIRECTORY

TOWN OF SAULT STE. MARIE

The Town of Sault Ste. Marie was incorporated in 1887. Its record as a village dates back to 1642, or earlier, when Canada was under French rule. It is now the district town of Algoma, and has a population of 7,011 by the census of 1901, while in 1891 it had only 1,361. Its growth is chiefly the result of the great enterprises, consisting of the pulp mills, iron works, steel plant, chemical works, etc., which have been established, or which are now in course of being established. The town has a waterworks and electric light system. It is the western terminus of the Algoma branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the southern terminus of the Algoma Central Railway, which is now in course of construction. It is an important port, there being situated here the canal built in 1894 by the Canadian Government, and the great lock, which is considered the finest in the world. The different denominations are represented in the Catholic, Anglican, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches, and there is a general hospital under the charge of the Grey Nuns. In the neighborhood of the town there is good farming land which is in part well settled, with abundance of room for new settlers.
